BALLINGER CITIZEN BADLY HURT HERE

Man Fell from Stair to Ground Monday Night. Precarious Condition.

A most serious accident occurred on the stairway just south of the Parlor saloon, Monday night about 11 o'clock, as a result of which Bud Miller, of Ballinger, lies in a precarious condition. Mr. Miller was retiring for the night to his room over the resort, and at the top of the stairs, some twenty feet from the ground, he sat down upon the railing to smoke a cigarette. While in this posture, he suddenly lost his balance and fell backward to the alley below.

It was at first thought that the unfortunate man was killed. He was picked up unconscious by friends and carried into the saloon. The known injuries are a badly fractured right leg, broken midway between the ankle and knee, and severe and painful bruises. His internal condition is also extremely serious, but to what extent is not now known. Drs. Batts and Lynn set the broken limb Monday night, and encased it in plaster-of-paris. Miller was taken on a stretcher to the home of John Holcomb Tuesday morning.

Bud Miller is a well known saloon man of Ballinger, and was paying a brief visit to San Angelo friends, having arrived here

Sunday afternoon. Friends of the injured man are waiting on him. He is suffering a great deal and his condition is reported about the same.

To Spend Christmas in New York.

Mrs. Kate Veck left Monday afternoon for New York City on a visit to Mrs. W. D. Hanbridge, nee Miss Kate Veck. Mrs. Veck expects to spend Christmas in the metropolis, and be away from San Angelo three months, returning in the spring. Mrs. Hanbridge's health has greatly improved lately.

Taylor Merchant Visited His Farm.

L. H. Goldstein, a prominent merchant of Taylor, was in San Angelo several days last week on a visit to a farm he owns south of San Angelo on Lipan Flat. Messrs. H. W. Gattis and J. W. Sides are managing Mr. Goldstein's farm for him. Mr. Goldstein was highly pleased with the abundance of rain West Texas has had for the past several weeks and found the conditions on his farm gratifying. He left for his home Monday afternoon.

H. J. Pincus, of San Antonio, made a brief business visit to San Angelo last week, returning to the Alamo City Monday.

H. G. Caruthers and wife, of the Sonora country, arrived in the city Sunday on a combined business and pleasure visit.

A. B. Blackwell, a prosperous citizen of the little town of Edith, in Coke county, was a business visitor in San Angelo Monday.

Talking About Hereford Sale.

Our Hereford cattle man, Mr. Jno. R. Lewis, returned last night from San Angelo, where he had gone to attend an auction sale of Herefords. A pasturist reports the sale as being a very successful one. One hundred and twenty-five head of cattle, including 100 head of yearling heifers, were sold in the forenoon, at an average price of $10.00 per head. One prize winning cow selling for the neat sum of $700 and a show bull for $800. This was a dispersion sale of one of the best herds of Hereford cattle in Texas and the prices paid shows a reawakening interest in the cattle business that is very gratifying to cattle breeders everywhere.—Sweetwater Reporter.

Left to Receive Cattle.

H. B. Edens, connected with the live stock firm of H. W. Gillis & Co., left Sunday afternoon for Van Horn, Texas, to receive the 4,000 head of cattle bought in the big $75,000 ranch-stock deal reported elsewhere in this issue. 100 head of good horses were included in this deal, including improvements. The ranch consists of 150 sections of fine land, choice situated.

Crockett County Ranch Deal.

Three thousand head of cattle and possession of a lease on a 50,000-acre ranch, situated 25 miles west of Ozona, changed hands in a deal concluded in Ft. Worth Friday. The cattle and lease were sold by A. F. Crowlew, of Fort Worth, and Will Harris, who lives on the ranch, to Bevan & Carroll. The cattle brought $15 a head, while the terms for the lease are not known.

Sold 1,000 Steers at p. t.

Max Mayer & Co. sold Monday for C. C. Yaws & Son, of Sonora, 1,000 3 and 4-year-old steers to Powell & Cawley, of San Angelo, at private figures. This big herd of fine heaves will be delivered in San Angelo about Dec. 15, when they will be shipped by the new owners.

J. T. Morris received 130 head of yearling heifers from T. J. Stuart & Son this week. Mr. Morris got these yearlings at a bargain, $9 per head.

Tanner & McGuire, of San Antonio, bought 1,500 bred ewes from George Mier at p. t. Jas. A. Cope made the trade.—Devil's River News.

K. Godfrey, a well known cattleman of Kansas City, was in San Angelo Saturday and Monday. Mr. Godfrey left Monday afternoon for Kansas City, where he intends to ship a big bunch of feeders and yearlings into New Mexico. He made no purchases while on his visit to West Texas.

REAL ESTATE.

Schleicher County Deals.

Silliman, Campbell & Evans reports the following sales for the week: Sold for T. A. Thomson to D. C. Hill 640 acres unimproved at $10.25 per acre, a total of $6560 for the tract. This is the highest price section of unimproved land ever sold in the county.

They also sold for Taylor & Garland, one section of land nine miles from El Dorado, unimproved at $4 per acre.

Sold for Sol and Abe Mayer 640 acres of land, eleven miles from El Dorado, unimproved at $5 per acre.

Sold for I. H. Elder to Baker, 320 acres of land 16 miles from El Dorado, at $5 per acre, unimproved.

Sold for J. J. Jones to F. H. Watson and P. I. Elder, his livery stable property for $1050.—El Dorado Success.

Big Wool Deal.

Capt. Charles Schreiner, wool commission merchant, sold the fall clip of Kerrville wool to Hollowell, Jones & Donald, of Boston, the clip bringing from 18 to 19 cents per pound. The shipment consisted of 700,000 pounds, being about a quarter of a million pounds short of the usual fall clip on account of the inability of the ranchmen to secure shearers before it was too late to shear. This will enhance the spring clip, at which time this market will probably break the record for 12-months' wool, as sheep are in fine condition and the range excellent. The last of the big shipment went out Tuesday. Since that time Capt. Schreiner has also sold and shipped about 200,000 pounds of mohair to Willett & Co., of Boston.

Kerrville is holding her as one of the largest wool markets in America. The quality of the staples shipped from this point rank with the best products on the continent. Capt. Schreiner, who has been in the wool commission business here for many years, has established an enviable standing among the wool factors of the East, and has done much toward placing Kerrville wools in the high esteem in which they are held by spinners.—Kerrville Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drake, of Waco, were visitors in San Angelo the first of the week.

Miss Ella Sullivan, after a visit of several days to San Angelo relatives, left Sunday for her home in Globe, Arizona.
